Peaceful Picketing.

The right of peaceful picketing was still allowed, and he appealed to members having influence in the ir ining areas to see that it was not abused. So far, he gladly admitted that the dispute had been conducted without grave disorder, and this said a great deal for the good temper of the mining community and of the Police in their difficult duty.

The chief virtue of the Regulations was that under them offences could be dealt with more quickly than if they were remitted to Assize Courts. Possible sentences at Assizes were, moreover, four times of the Northerners on to that as heavy.—British Wireless Service.

AUSTRALIA TO FIGHT TO A FINISH.

COUNTRY BLED WHITE.

Sydney, Oct. 26. At the opening of the Country Press Conference Dr. Earle Page, Treasurer of the Commonwealth; said that foreign oil companies had not only bled the country white but were attempting to lay down how the country should progress." The Federal Government was prepared to fight them to a finish.

Foreign oil companies' levies had greatly handickpped progress in road locomotion in Australia. The Federal Government was determined that this should not be allowed to continue indefinitely. Commonwealth Oil Refineries wer formed for the purpose of making Australia independent in times emergency and would soon demon strate the exorbitance of importers prices .- Reuter.

Australian Prime Minister (Mr. S. M. Bruce) that British manufacturers did not sufficiently study the needs of the overseas Empire Markets is likely to result in increased attention being given to these markets, but the rapid expansion of the export trade in motors is already encouraging. For example, 2,000 Austin Hong Kong. cars were sent abroad in 1923. In the following year, the figure was 4,000. Last year it was 10,000 Beef Sirioin. and on the basis of the first four months 16,000 would be exported during the present year.—British

GREAT PASSAGES.

THE PARADOX OF MAN.

The curious thing is that seriously believe all these things in turn. I feel myself of no importance and of all importance, an outeast and an angel, the master of circumstances and the sport of circumstances, the most perishable of things and the most enduring of things each of these things in turn, on different days of the week and on different hours of the same day. There are days when, so far from lacking faith, all the terrestrial faiths put together seem tomake too little demand on my capacity for believing; and there are days when I seem to be equally without past or future or anchorage to the present.

I have questioned all sorts of very of Stores," will be received arising from disordered liver on religious people, and I gather that at the Colonial Secretary's Office sluggish, digestive processes there is their emotions are essentially the until Noon of MONDAY, the 8th nothing better than Pinkettes, the same as mine, though they use phrases about them which do not come easily to my lips. And this is good for them and for me. Any religion would be a calamity which quenched this sense of the great human adventure in the unknown. SUGGESTED ALLIANCE.

In connection with a business journey to Finland and Sweden Mr. Charles Gane, president of Timber Trade Federation of ie United Kingdom, has been interviewed by a representative of he Helsingfors "Hufvudstadsbladet," to whom he mentioned that the object of the journey had been to confer with the leading exporters of wood from Finland and Sweden concerning the question of bringing about closer cooperation with British importers.

As is stated by the newspaper, Mr. Gane is reported to have said that he was glad to see how well the export of Finnish wood is organised; the Finish Sawmill Owners' Association represents 80 per cent. of the total exports of wood and something similar can be said of the Swedish organisa-But it could dangerous for 20

FALL IN EXCHANGE.

We beg to notify our many customers that there has been no increase in our retail prices so far, nor, as a result of our policy of carrying heavy stocks, is there a likelihood of being so until about the beginning of next year, and then only if the present low rate of exchange continues.

The public are therefore warned against paying increased prices to Compradores for Dairy Farm Produce of any description until such time, as we have advertised that an increase has been made.

EXEWITNESS REPORT.

anguse Hostilities from Hankow to Kiukiang.

Hankow, Oct. 16. The" difficulty of sifting authentic information as to the the place. position of the warring armies is others.

Thus a recent voyage to Kiukiang tended in no way to clear has brought forward many forthe doubt from the different re- eign volunteers, to tend the ports, as to how matters stand wounded. It did though prove that instead of standing still, the war between ed passes, and after the Te-an the South and Sun Chuan-fang attack they went to Nanchang by was ebbing and flowing with perhaps what honours there were going to the former.

Green Uniforms.

Just before the place was reached, it was observed that the Japanese upward bound steamer. which usually calls at this town for passengers, was hugging the south bank.

This tended to show that something untoward was happening. On going nearer large crowds were seen outside the place and on the hill top where there were a few Northern tents.

The presence of the latter led one to believe that the Northern forces were still in possession; but much to one's surprise a little further on brought to light green uniforms intermingling with the blue of the civilians:

Evidently the Northerners had left in a hurry; not taking time even to carry off camp paraphernalia with them. Cruisers in the Stream.

All these people were looking down river as if some thing there was holding their interest. Before people on the downward going boat could see what this was, the steamer had first to round the bend.

On doing this it was seen that a large body of Southern troops were marching back, while further afield soldiers, here and there, could be picked out, holding positions as if they were not sure who was in front of them, and they were taking precautions against a surprise counter at-

Bursting Shell & Shrapnel. This was naturally construed as meaning that Sun's forces were not giving up this advantageous position.

Another surprise was awaiting us, for us as one picked up troops lining the heights overlooking Split Hill, there was the sound of a bursting shell and shrapnel smoke appeared above the valley which runs away at a slant on the north bank from the river.

Then soldiers were observed on the spit, of land which runs out into the river at this place. These men were found to be Southerners, but they did not seem to be taking cover nor were the cruisers paying any attention to them.

When abreast of the cruisers a broadside was fired over the hill along the water's edge into the valley above mentioned and this The China Inland' Mission drew attention to the fact that the Northern soldiers were lining the crest and were firing at some warded by the Canton Informaenemy in the valley below.

The Southerners could not be picked out but heavy rifle and machine gun fire could be heard showing that a flerce battle was in progress.

SALIGIAS OUTSTANDING GALLOP.

TODAY'S FIGURES.

(By "Patrol") "Trainers this morning were content to send their charges out for slow gallops on the inside course. after the effort asked of the ponies on Saturday prior to the relosing of entries.

Saligia, however, in the manner of an aristocrat, refused to be held by Mr. Ralph and ran away to do the best gallop without being asked, for an effort. Sunburst Rose and The Sand Piper had both done well on Saturday but they were not tested this morning. Grey Knight embarked on his second canter after his return from Shanghala

There is little in to-day's returns to guide the average punter beyond. perhaps, the "last quarters." Tutix has only partially recover-

SIMPLER ENGLISH.

HOW TO HELP CHILDREN AND FOREIGNERS.

[By Harold Coxe] In his very interesting article of Standardised Speech, Mr. St. John Ervine has called public attention to a serious misfortune from which English language suffere namely, the widespread habit of bad pronunciation. As he rightly says, one of the causes of this trouble is our defective spelling.

In most languages the spelling of the written word is a clear indication of how that word ought to be prohounced. In the English
